<sup>1</sup> The program operations fee is charged in lieu of OUS campus tuition. Students will receive credit from their home institution as though they paid regular tuition. This fee also includes the basic administrative and salary expenses. The program operations fee is kept as close to regular tuition and fees as possible.

<sup>2</sup> The lodging and meals fee is based on estimates from the ITESM. The amount charged here is returned, in full by semester, to the student prior to departure to ensure that he/she has adequate funds to cover housing costs upon arrival since financial aid cannot be released until the beginning of each term in Oregon. The amount provided here is an average amount – your housing costs may be higher or lower than this amount.

<sup>4</sup> The additional expenses illustrate the amounts you should plan for each of the categories noted. These are estimates and are based upon average figures provided by past participants and by the host institutions. They are dependent upon your individual habits, requirements, and needs. Fluctuations in the rate of exchange, the economic climate in the host country, and unforeseen expenses can all deplete your money supply more quickly than you may expect. Budget for contingencies.

<sup>5</sup> The campus surcharge is charged by each OUS campus. It will be in the range of $250 - $300 per term.

Every attempt will be made by the OUS International Programs Office to maintain costs at projected amounts.
